OUC AND OUT-OF-TOWN CREWS WORK TIRELESSLY TO RESTORE POWER FOLLOWING HURRICANE IRMA

As Hurricane Irma approached Florida in September, OUC officials sprung into action, securing damage assessors, tree trimmers and line technicians from as far away as Massachusetts to help restore power to the nearly 145,000 customers who lost it as the storm barreled its way through Central Florida. As soon as it was safe to do so, crews headed out in full force to assess the damage to our power grid and worked around the clock to quickly and safely make repairs, helping customers get their lives back to normal.

Our crews work diligently to repair or replace broken or burnt-out streetlights, but with your help, we can do it even quicker! More Information at ouc.com/streetlight.
